Profile

Andrew M. Mintzer has over 40 years of experience as a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), including 17 years at Ernst & Young. He is a leader in the accounting profession, serving as Chair of the California Society of CPAs, the nation's largest statewide professional society of CPAs, for its 2016-17 association year.

He is a forensic accountant and testifying expert in accounting, auditing and SEC financial reporting matters. He has testified as an expert in federal and state courts including testifying in New York City, as an accounting expert, during In re Vivendi Universal, S.A. lawsuit, one of just nine securities class actions tried to verdict since the passage of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act in 1995.

He has also developed and instructed numerous accounting and auditing educational programs and is an instructor for the National Judicial College where he teaches accounting, auditing and financial reporting to judges.

Four times in his career he has served as a professional standard setter. Mr. Mintzer has been appointed to the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants (IESBA) for 2019 through 2021. The IESBA is an independent standard-setting board that develops and issues, in the public interest, high-quality ethical standards and other pronouncements for professional accountants worldwide. Mr. Mintzer served on the AICPA's Professional Ethics Executive Committee (PEEC) from 2014 through 2018. The PEEC is the senior committee of the AICPA authorized to develop standards of ethics and establish and present charges of violations of those standards to the Joint Trial Board for disciplinary action. Mr. Mintzer was a member of the Auditing Standards Board (ASB) from 2008 through 2010. In that capacity he was one of 19 people in the United States who voted on additions to and revisions of Generally Accepted Auditing Standards (GAAS) that must be followed by all auditors of non-publicly traded entities. Mr. Mintzer was also a member of the Accounting Standards Executive Committee (AcSEC) of the AICPA from 2001 through 2005. In that capacity he was one of 33 people in the United States who voted on additions to and revisions of Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) that must be followed by all companies whose financial statements purport to comply with GAAP.

Mr. Mintzer is also an expert in international accounting and auditing standards. He is a licensed Canadian Chartered Professional Accountant. He has successfully completed the AICPA's International Financial Reporting Standards Certificate Program.

He is a Certified Fraud Examiner. He has been designated by the AICPA as Certified in Financial Forensics (CFF). Mr. Mintzer holds a B.A. in accounting and a Master of Accountancy degree from the University of South Florida.
